HEALTH, SAFETY, AND ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

It is the policy of Commonwealth Rolled Products, Inc. to conduct its operations and business activities in a manner that protects our employees and our communities and respects the environment. Commonwealth strives to be among the industry leaders in health, safety, and environmental (HS&E) performance. Through management leadership and employee involvement, Commonwealth is committed to compliance with all applicable HS&E laws, regulations and company standards, and to the continuous improvement of its HS&E performance. Commonwealth will measure that performance and periodically will make information about it available to Commonwealth stakeholders. All employees of Commonwealth and contractors working on its behalf are expected to be aware of this policy and are responsible for carrying out its principles. The guiding principles of this policy are:

HEALTH AND SAFETY

Commonwealth strives to protect the health and well being of each of our employees, visitors, and contractors. Each of us is responsible to conduct our activities in accordance with safe work practices and with a proper attitude toward accident and illness prevention. Every manager and supervisor is accountable for the safety of those reporting to him or her.

Commonwealth endeavors to provide appropriate equipment, tools, standards, procedures, process analyses, and training to assist employees in performing their jobs safely. We analyze our operations and business activities to identify potential improvements to assure safe operations.

The prevention of accidents while off the job is also important to each one of us and Commonwealth promotes off the job safety for our employees.

Security is a component of providing a safe work place and will be managed as a safety requirement.

ENVIRONMENT

Commonwealth conducts its operations and business activities in an environmentally responsible manner. Our environmental program requires the implementation of management systems that assure compliance with applicable laws, regulations, and company standards and continuous improvement of our environmental performance. Each company operation and business unit is obligated to conduct its activities to support pollution prevention and the efficient use of energy and natural resources.

PRODUCT STEWARDSHIP

Commonwealth incorporates HS&E and security considerations in the development, manufacture, distribution, use, and disposal of its products. We provide our customers, contractors, and transporters with information to ensure that our products can be distributed, used, and recycled or disposed in a safe and environmentally responsible manner.
